DUANA HALE REIGNS

1. Jeff Rindt moves to the beat of Grand Avenue. 2. The soft music sets a slow pace for couples. 3. Duana's escort, Emil Wittenborn, takes time to readjust the crown. 4. Queen Duana smiles with disbelief. 5. The queen candidates (left to right) Brenda Brinkman, Duana Hale, Jan Stafford.

Duana Hale spent an unforgettable evening in "Rock-and-Roll Heaven" when she was crowned Fall Sports Homecoming Queen during half time ceremonies of the Wellington-Ark City game.

The queen candidates were driven onto the field in convertibles and escorted to the center of the field by the top three Cross Country runners. Senior J. Means, the No. 1 Cross Country miler, presented Duana with a bouquet of roses, a football signed by the Football and Cross Country boys, a necklace, a kiss, and a crown that wouldn't stay on her head.

The homecoming dance was held after the game at Adam's Grade School where couples danced to the music of Grand Avenue. Stuco was hard pressed for money to pay for the dance, and students were urged to attend. The dance turned out to be a great success, and enough money was raised to assure a homecoming dance next year.

MILERS RUN CO-ED

Rivalry between the sexes became a reality on the Bulldog Cross Country team as four brave females dared to run the hundreds of strenuous miles as a part of the team. Maybe the males were spurred on by the ladies' presence or maybe the team as a whole had more spirit than in other years, but whatever the reason, unwanted pounds and seconds were trimmed off under the watchful eye and stopwatch of Coach Dale Eggen.

The old school record was broken by J. Means, senior runner, this year. The old record was 10:00 flat, set by Ron Seibel in 1972. J. ran 9:56 in the Wichita North Meet.

One sport that didn't go coed at ACHS is Girl's Tennis. This year is the first year that the Bulldogs have hosted an invitational match; Ark City took first place.

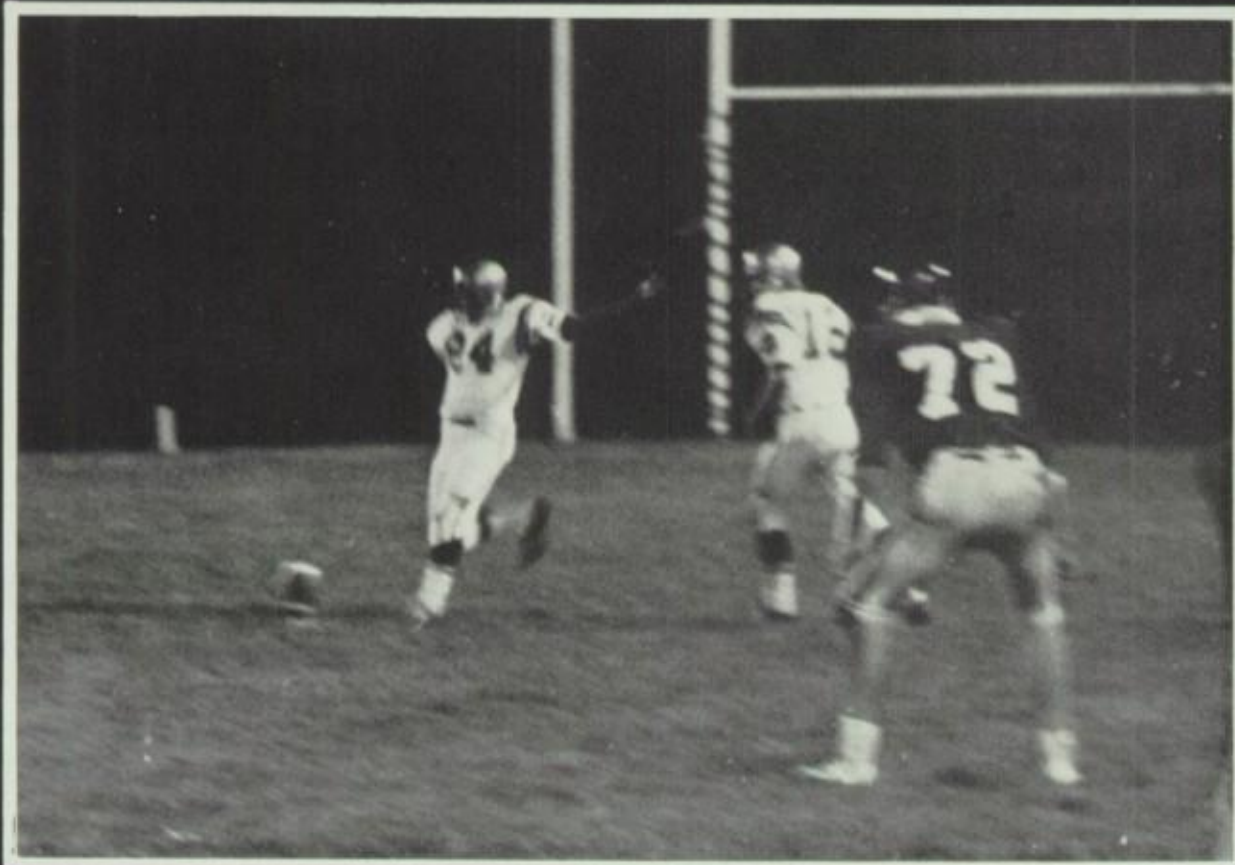

One of the team's main strengths is the returning letterwomen, seniors Brenda Brinkman, Annette Gilmore, Karen Hutton, Cindy Kinzie, junior Janna Coats, and sophomore Leslye McCall. These are only six of the girls that make up the varsity squad. The other girls include Jan Knocke, Jalynn Vaughan, Mary Baucus, and Beverly Gilmore.

1) Cross Country: Row 1: Marianne Spear, Barbara Tieperman, J. Means, Ann Rienkemeyer, Patti Tieperman. Row 2: Troy Miller, Kenny Mann, Randy Martin, Tony VanSchuyver, Rick Frank, Stephen Mohler, Steve Kelley, Mark Wittenborn, Kevin Bennett. Row 3: Eric Marsh, Danny Stockton, Bobby Grout, Gary Watts, Gary LaVelle, Pat Starr, Terry Spear, Kenny Mitchell, Paul Knight. Row 4: Gevan Johnston, Mike Joseph, Steve Nuss, Emil Wittenborn, Rick Jones, Mike Starr, David Hunt, Kent Miller. 2) Annette Gilmore works on her serve. 3) Netters to Regionals: Top — Jaylynn Vaughan, Mary Baucus. Standing: Brenda Brinkman, Annette Gilmore, Janna Coats. Kneeling: Leslye McCall. Sitting: Tammy McKinney (manager). 4) Sophomore miler Marianne Spear runs hard. 5) Danny Stockton anticipates the finish line. 6) Girl's Tennis team: Row 1: Jalynn Vaughan, Karen Hutton, Brenda Brinkman. Row 2: Christina Frazee, Maria Aucar, Linda Taylor, Marcele DeFreeze, Julie Chapin, Paula Buffo. Row 4: Beverly Gilmore, Mary Baucus, Annette Gilmore, Carol Dowell, Karen Peterson, Becky Boyer, Lori Richardson, Jan Knocke, and Coach Norma Dixon.

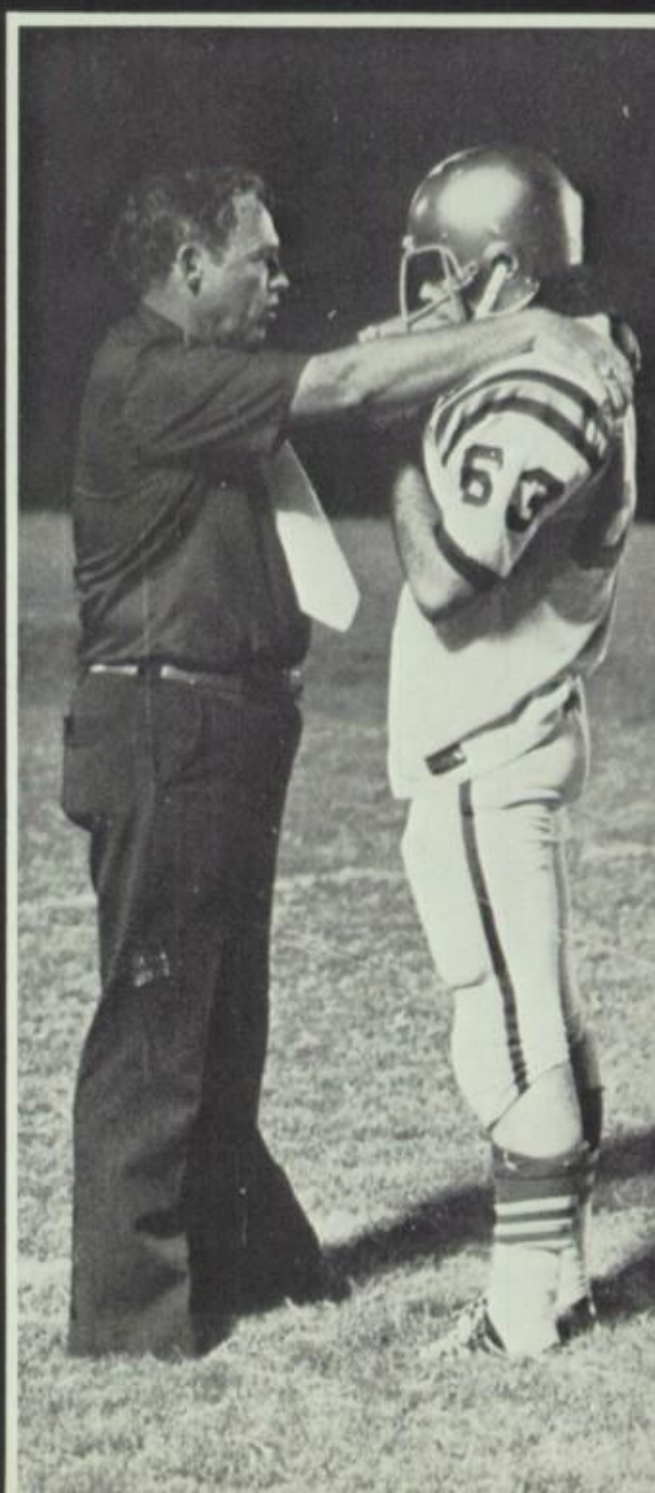

BULLDOGS FINISH SEASON 25-8

A spectacular victory over Winfield ended the 1974 football season. The victory gave the Bulldogs a winning season of five wins and four losses, and third in the Ark Valley.

The main asset of the Bulldogs offense was a strong backfield accented by Kenny Williams. Dan McGowan led the defense which held their opponents to a minimum. Although the season had its ups and downs, it was a season to be remembered.

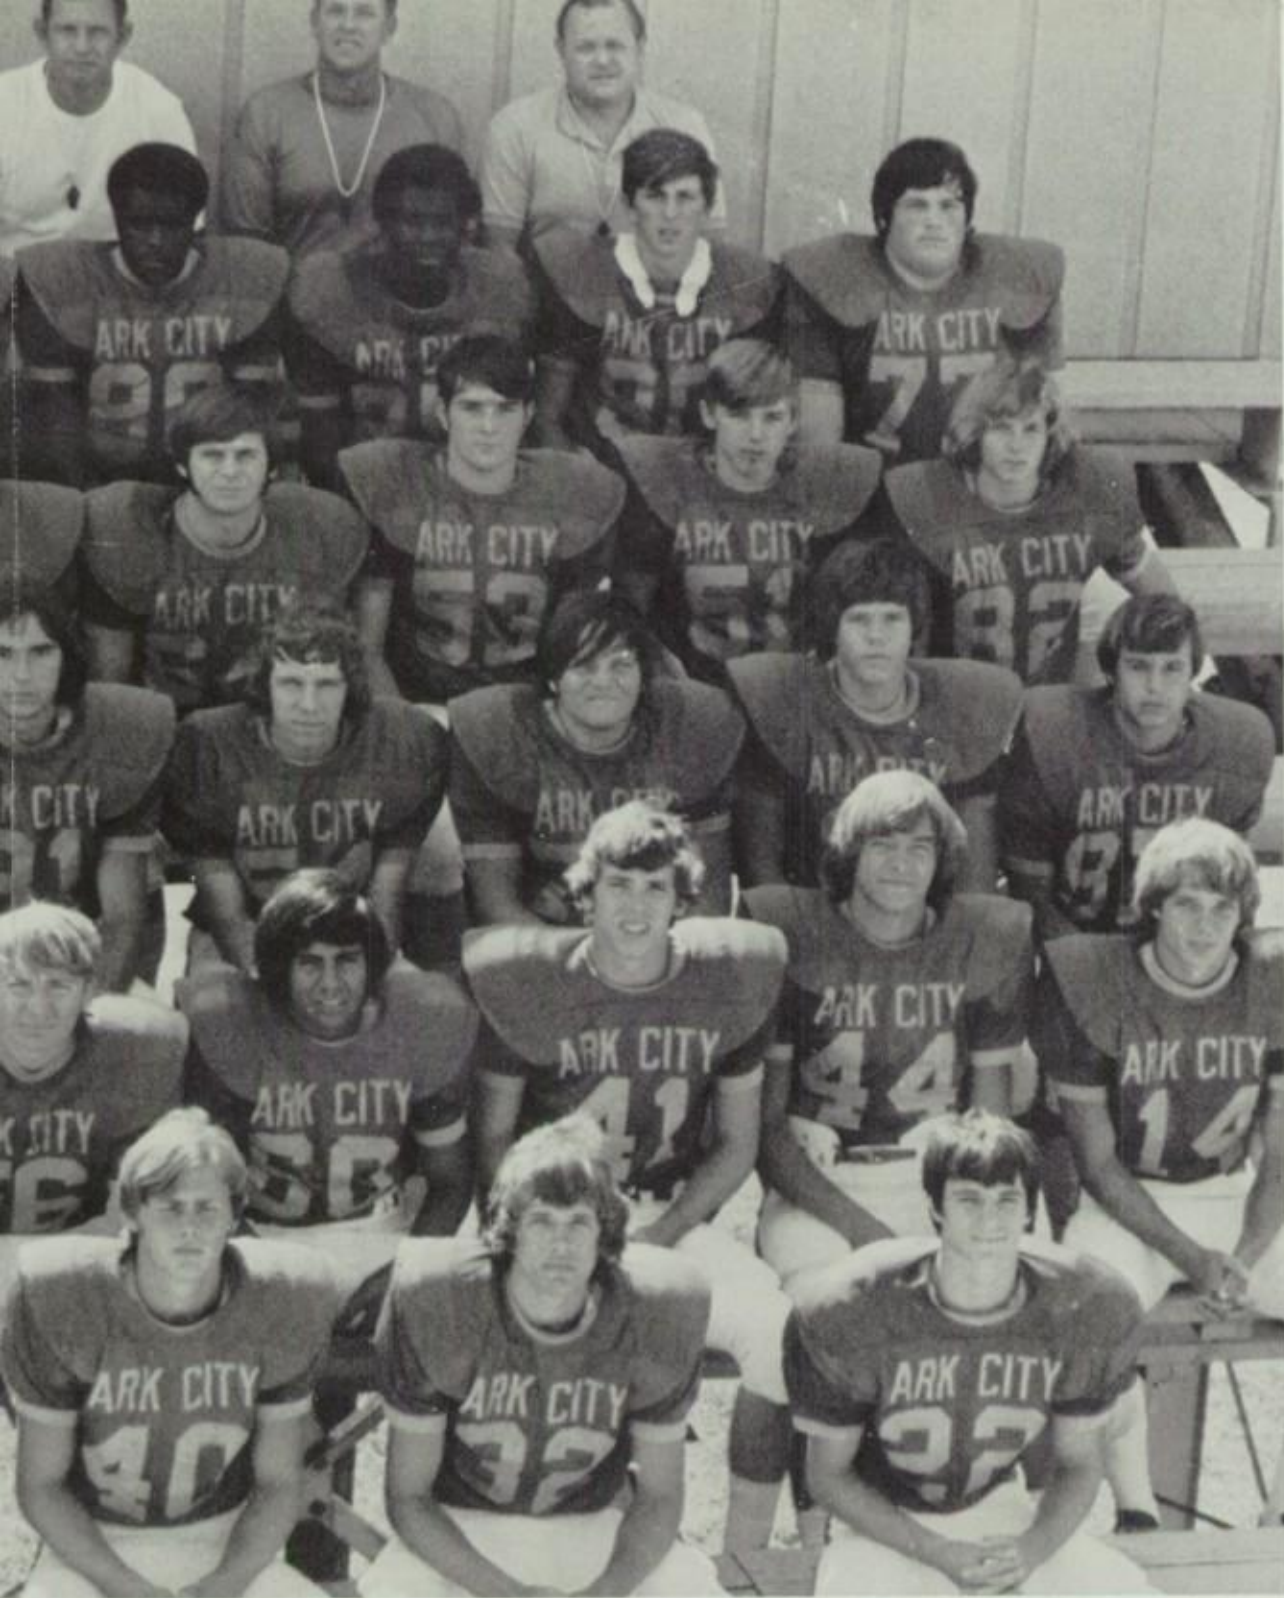

1) Senior Kenny Williams fights for yardage against tough Coffeyville opposition. 2) The Bulldog defense clashes with Wellington offense during the AC Homecoming game. 3) Steve Ralston watches the game from the sidelines. 4) Toby Jennings kicks off at the start of the Ark City-Winfield game. 5) Head Coach Gilstrap advises Dan McGowan on a deserted field. 6) Ben Smith tackles a Wellington Crusader.

Fantastic wins, close calls, and heartbreaking losses typified the 1974-75 Bulldog Basketball team. Under the helping hand of Head Varsity Coach the team practiced long and hard to become the great team that they were. The law passed by Congress that gave girls the right to join an all-male team affected the roundballers when two sophomore girls, Jenny Gildhouse and Cheryl Falkenberg, joined the sophomore team.

The Bulldog cagers who went into every game filled with the Bulldog winning spirit and backed by the Pep Club and Bulldog fans, fought hard for Ark City.

1) 1974-75 ACHS Basketball team, sitting: Lynn Callison, Ed Weston, Rod Soule, Darrel Dow, Steve Hunt, Monty Eldridge. Kneeling: David Avery, David Bohannon, Mike Starr, Toby Jennings. Standing: David Reese, J. Means, Kent Miller, David Rempe, Brad Louderback, Robert Milner, Keith Robinson, Mike Joseph, Jeff Kennedy, Glendale Berry, David Hunt. The Bulldog coaches responsible for training ACHS's great roundballers are, top: Head Varsity coach Bill Means, and B-team coach Richard Strano, and, bottom: sophomore coaches Doug Ewing and John Woodworth. The Bulldog Varsity squad consisted of five seniors and two juniors. They are: 3) Brad Louderback, 4) David Hunt, 5) J. MATMEN END SEASON WITH 5-2

Running ... feeling the fat fall off ... slowing down or speeding up, anything that would put you up with the girl ... wondering how you would come out in eliminations. These thoughts would pound through your head if you were an ACHS supergrappler.

Sophomore Debra Carter was a first for Ark City when she joined the wrestling team. With two years ahead to look forward to, she ran with, wrestled against, was initiated by, and did everything else with the male wrestlers except shower and weigh-in.

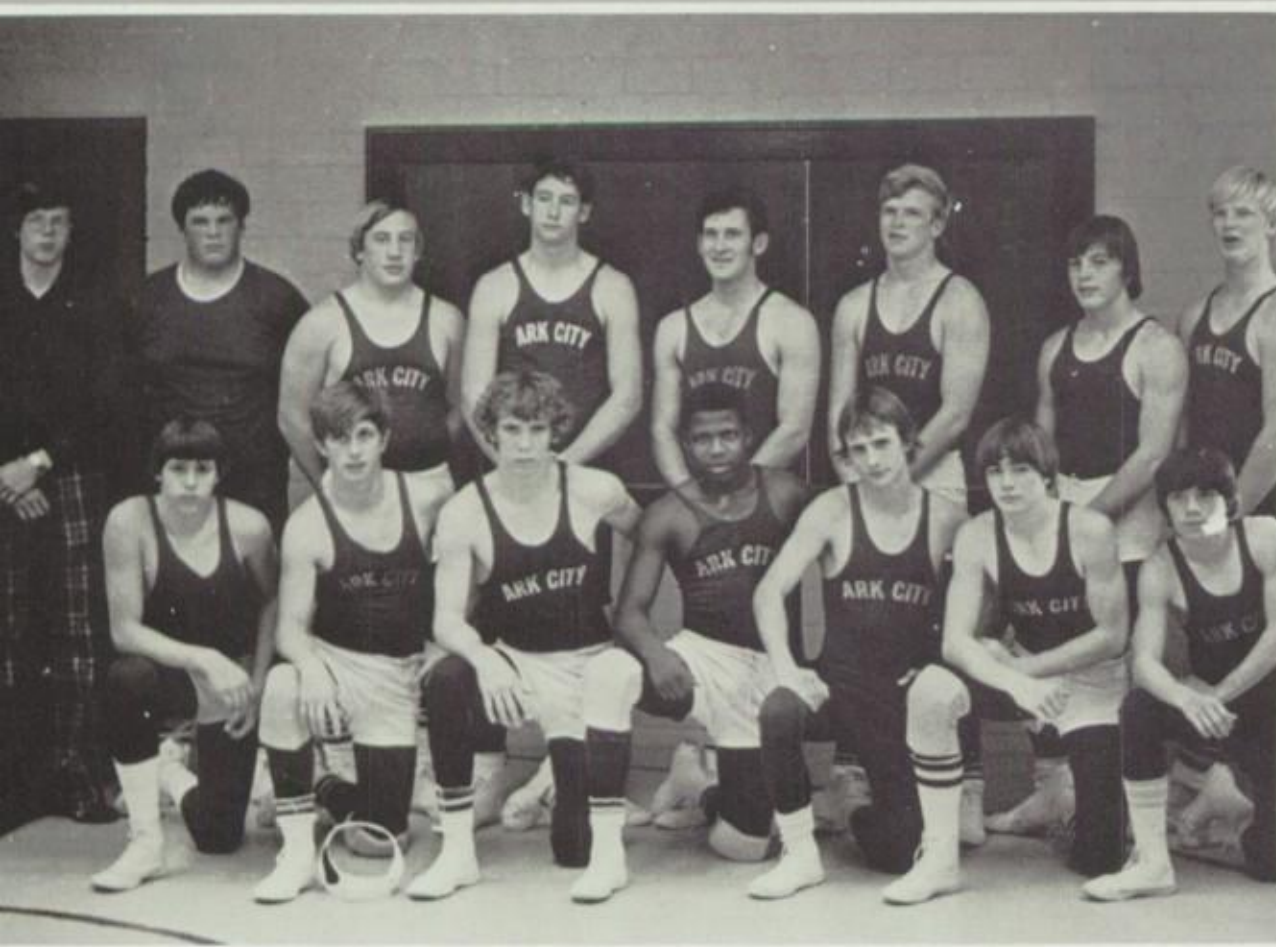

It's not known what (or who) gave the team the spirit that it showed at all the meets, but win or lose, the Ark City wonderwrestlers put forth their best every match.

PRACTICE PAYS OFF

1) Jeff Tipton jumps up from the mat after pinning his opponent. 2) Bob Voegle keeps his eye on the other grappler as he watches for an opening to break him down to the mat. 3) Mark Crain congratulates Chris Allen after a match. 4) Team Captain Chris Allen attempts to turn his adversary over for a pin.

GYMNASTICS HELD IN 'DUNGEON'

ACHS's limber matwomen, the gymnasts, worked on cartwheels, the uneven parallels, the balance beam, and mat routines under the watchful eye of Coach Dale Eggen.

Still working out in the dungeon deep in the bowels of ACHS, the girls were constantly on the look out for falling plaster and low pipes.

The spirit of the gymnasts was not affected by their surroundings as they put out the effort needed for a great gymnastic team.

The 'Midnight Hour' set the mood for this winters homecoming. Renee Mulkey was crowned queen during half-time ceremonies at the Ark City-Wichita South game.

Dan McGowan, David Bay, and Jeff Rindt escorted the queen candidates onto the court. Renee who was crowned queen by Philip Olson, was presented with a bouquet of red roses by the cheerleaders.

The game between Ark City and Wichita South ended with a score of 80-44, Wichita South Winning.

The dance following the game, to be held at Adams School, was canceled, due to bad weather. But it was held on March 14, 1975. Music was presented by Palace.

SPRING BRINGS WINS

Spring is finally here! Along with the warm weather comes the participants in spring sports. The boys and girls come out to their respective track teams, then join together for baseball, the golfers swing into action, and the guys get their serving arms warmed up for a vigorous work-out in tennis. These athletes have one advantage. Their sports are in the spring time so they have nice sunny days and cool evenings in which to work out. The team spirit was boosted by the fact that school is almost over. The coaches were always there to help the players strive for victory.

Sitting; Wendy Viola, Terri Weston, and Mary Beeks.

Although Student Council started the year with enthusiasm, they gradually lost it because of lack of willingness to work on projects presented.

Among those projects of primary concern introduced this year was a request for a student lounge to be located in the West Building where the Juco lounge had been previously.

Other projects undertaken this year included Fall and Winter Homecoming. Also, during the Sadie Hawkins dance there was a picture taking and marrying consession.

ACTIVITIES INSPIRE SPIRIT

As president, Terri Weston saw that many changes were made and more activities were added to keep the Pep Club members active throughout the year.

The new pant uniforms kept the girls warm at the cold football games but were comfortable enough for indoor sports too.

With the help of Mr. Raymond Judd, sponsor, the Pep Club officers dreamed up new ideas to boost the teams' spirit such as dinners for the teams, the members participating in skits at Pep Assemblies, and baking cakes for the athletes. To pay for the expenses, the club started early in August with money making projects such as car washes.

As these new ideas began to take shape, enthusiasm mounted as did the membership.

SQUAD SPIRIT SOARS

Energetic! There couldn't be a more appropriate word to describe the High School cheerleaders.

After hours of practice and a week long camp at Norman, Oklahoma, the cheerleaders returned anxious to try out their new, modern cheers and spread their contagious 'germ' which we label enthusiasm.

This inner quality was not only presented at the game. For the enjoyment of the spectators as well as the teams, they sold ads in order to provide programs which would be sold for a quarter at home games.

To pay for their expenses the girls held pop bottle drives during the summer.

Parlez-vous français?

What did you say about a French meal at a French Restaurant? Party? When? International what? These are just a few of the comments heard at a French Club meeting.

An international dinner was held between the French club, Spanish Club, and AFS this year.

The major event of the year was the contest held at W.S.U., where members of the French Club pitted their skill against those French students of other schools. Plans were made to attend a French meal at a French Restaurant.

This year they went to the Concurso, (contest), at W.S.U., where they recited poems and prose passages and competed in conversation with a native speaker.

The members had a fiesta with pinatas and spanish foods, songs, and games.

FFA MIXES FUN, WORK

Future Farmers of America is a very worthwhile and usefull organization. It not only gives you a sense of responsibility but you have fun while you work to achieve your goals.

Some of the activities throughout the year, such as the speech contest, and judging contests will help and prepare the people involved for their future lives.

There are also fun activities involved, such as the FFA Sweetheart, rodeos, and dances.

But most important is the fact that there is something for everyone no matter what you may be interested in.

MATARI FOR UNITY

Matari, a little known group in ACHS, is in possession of a rather unusual goal. That of understanding among the minorities of ACHS. Through their meetings, and other activities, the group hopes to reach an understanding of themselves and others. Matari is a club to be joined with a serious frame of mind because of the goal that they are trying to attain.

Members of the group feel that they are actively involved in the prevention of self-prejudices and misunderstanding of customs different than their own.

AFS, American Field Service, one of the peace-makers of the world, is dedicated to helping people understand each other through staying in a different country for a summer, or go to school for a year.

Some of the activities undertaken by the club this year were a get acquainted picnic for Claudia de Campos, the foreign exchange student from Brazil. Also, the club undertook several money raising projects in order to help send a student overseas this summer.

Where's the toad sticker? Hand me the dummies!

These and many other meaningless phrases will assault your ears as you first enter the Arklight room.

Through the jumble at the beginning of the year, to the pressure of deadlines, the Arklight staff fought hard to bring you the very best in papers, and succeeded!

Amid the confusion and mess of the year, the staff put together the best of papers and have come from the high school staff in many years.

SUPERIOR STRINGS

ACHS Orchestra, directed by Mrs. Jean Gough, harmonized through the year with only seven members.

Not to be defeated by their size, they put out two successful concerts, and sponsored a Valentine Ball.

With hours of practice involved, the orchestra group is striving for a nucleus, from which to build one of the most memorable performances ever, to highlight the last year of their senior members, and for the next years to keep up the quality of the performances for the underclassmen.

1) Mrs. Jean Gough, director of the ACHS Orchestra, works to get the rough edges off a number to be performed for an orchestra performance. 2) The ACHS orchestra practices for their concert in the fall. Members include: Scott Carter, Beverly Wilson, Linda Bonewell, Dale Wilkinson, Greg Jurrens, Lisa Fencil, Vivian Lawson.

1) Lesia Fencil plays the violin during an orchestra practice. 2) Beverley Wilson also practices on the violin in order to prepare for the orchestra concert. 3) Orchestra officers Lisa Fencil, Greg Jurrens, and Vivian Lawson. 4) Rosel Mulkey and Steve Meyer practice in the percussion section of the orchestra for the upcoming orchestra concert.

USHERETTE'S SERVICE PUBLIC

Usherette's, those girls in the purple dresses you see at all activities, opened the year by selling bulldog pins to get money for the club. The club actively participates in nearly every extracurricular activity, including operetta, plays, band and choir concerts, basketball games, and the Arkalalah Coronation.

The club has a limited number of people, and the vacancies are filled each year by sophomore candidates.

1) The 1974-75 Usherettes, Jan Stafford, Monica Myers, Maria Allard, Kelly Brown, Karen Kelling, Jana Merz, Jean Lewis, Mary Sue Covey, Tammy Scheck, Lois Stone, Peggy Graham, Linda Taylor, Janice Bruce, Chrystal Partin, Sonya Green, Annette Skaggs, Rosel Mulkey, Catherine Starr, Maria Aucar, Wendy Viola, Brenda Bryant, Jalyann Vaughn, Kim Seaholm. 2) Jana Merz and Annette Skaggs, heads of Usherettes. 3) Mrs. Suzie Stark, sponsor of Usherettes.

ACBC IN FULL SWING

Arkansas City Business Club is in full swing this year. The first meeting was held at Harold's Steak House, where the officers were initiated into office for the new year, and the committees for the year were formed.

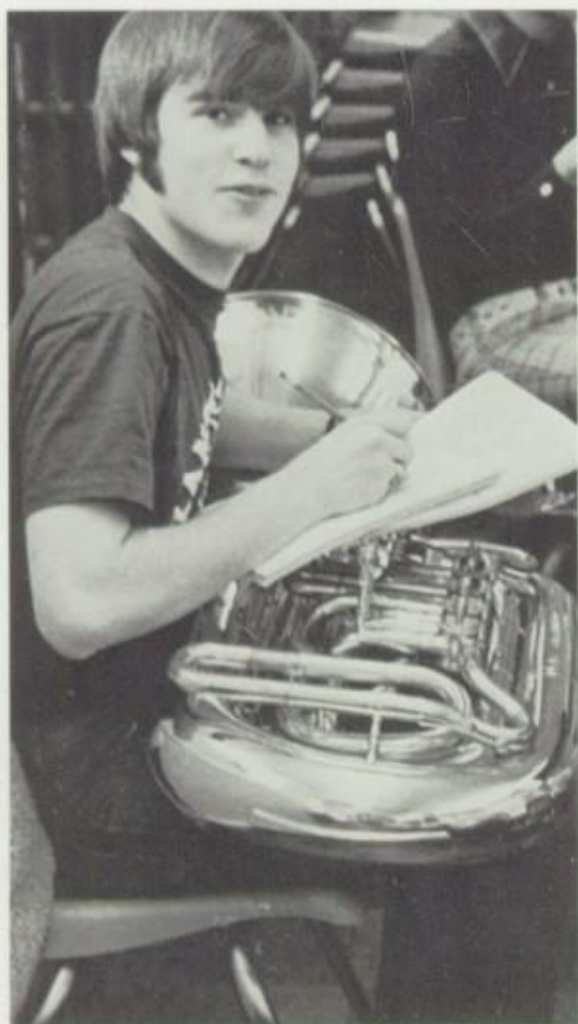

Two field trips were planned and undertaken this year by the club sponsors, Mrs. Willa Howerton and Miss Myrna Swanson and club president, Duana Hale.

Everyone had fun.

BAND MARCHES ON

Marching, playing, and practicing are what it takes to be a member of the band, and the members of the ACHS Marching Bulldog band found that out.

Playing for numerous events and special occasions throughout the year, the long hours of weekend rehearsals and hard summer work when others were enjoying their summer vacations, really paid off.

Then around Christmas, the band began it's traditional sale of fruit-cakes to raise money for their special trip this summer. Other money raising projects were held throughout the year, such as the special summer car wash.

FNA SHOWS SERVICE

FNA (Future Nurses of America) began the year with an attitude of usefulness to society.

Those who joined the club showed dedication to their possible future chosen profession, nursing, and helping mankind.

Those tasks under taken by FNA to help prove their dedication included eye examinations, assisting dentists in the annual dental inspection, helping with polio inoculations, and checking for hearing problems in students.

1) Renee Mulkey gives Mrs. Bohlander flowers after being sick. 2) FNA officers, Renee Mulkey, Bonita Robbins, and Janie VanSchuyver. 3) FNA 1974-75: Janie VanSchuyver, Annette Moore, Eugenia Haywood, Renee Mulkey, Gailene Begay, Gladys Graham, Debbie Staten, Vicke Becker. Middle Row: Bonita Robbins, Cheryl Whitford, Terry Robbins, Kim Castle, Kenalea Henry, Sue Lower, Teresa Guinty, Connie Walker, Monica Morton, Nancy Speer, Pam Nelson. Top Row: Peggy Virden, Janet Hadicke, Debbie Quintero, Kim Hess, Tammy Gentry, Bonnie Walker.

LEARNING IS GOAL

Science Club swung into action this year with an expanded membership, enabling them to experience new activities this year.

The first activity was a picnic and star watch held at Mr. Ron Greinke's house, which set the theme of the year's activities — learning combined with fun, to help the members experience fellowship.

1) Science Club for 1974-75; J. Many girls of ACHS were disappointed upon discovery that: Hi-Y was strictly "hands off" for them. Hi-Y is the only club in ACHS that is for males only. Mr. Richard Hawkins and Mr. Doug Ewing, sponsors of Hi-Y were very enthusiastic about the membership drive for Hi-Y that was conducted early in the school year. The group reached well over fifty in number.

Some activities sponsored by Hi-Y members are the powder-puff football game and the Thanksgiving assembly.

Y-TEENS UP-DATES

Y-Teens has up-dated their image this year by changing their name. A contest was held, and Holly Robinson was the winner with the suggested name of "Girls Unlimited."

The name Girls Unlimited stands for the development of all girls.

Y-Teens (Girls Unlimited) is a club dedicated to the advancement of girls in a Christian manner. They believe that through fellowship they will gain valuable experience for later life.

Many interesting programs were presented this year, such as a program on the reproduction system, given by Mrs. Nittler, at one of their meetings.

VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, has been here for a long time. The club was organized to help those who planned to go into vocational or industrial occupations, and the emphasis in this club is slanted towards training in professions useful in life without a college education, or degree. Emphasis on training for jobs with immediate openings is evident in this club.

THE PLAY'S THE THING

A.C. Players opened the year with a drastic increase in membership jumping from 10 to over 40 members.

The purpose of the club is to help with the production of plays which entertain the students of A.C.H.S. They work hard at doing their job from finding props to painting the sets. The most difficult job, aside from acting in the play, was practicing to do scene changes in the least possible time.

Players, from bottom to top, Janie VanSchuyver, Tammy Colquhoun, Stan Williams, Diane Teague, and Mrs. Dejon Ewing.

ODD COUPLE BIG HIT

The Odd Couple presented a unique challenge to local talent from ACHS, to produce yet another of the hit Neil Simon plays.

Many hours of hard work were put into rehearsals, with emphasis on becoming familiar with the character. This helped the actors to play the part easier, and with a better understanding of the lines.

The plays are always enjoyed by the actors, as well as the audience.

1) Vinnie (Kevin Streeter), Murray (Randy Duncan), Roy (J. Means), Speed (Philip Olson), and Oscar (Stan Williams) talk about what could happen if Felix (Chris McIntire) remains in the bathroom much longer. 2) Roy (J. Means), Speed (Philip Olson), and Murray (Randy Duncan) talk with Felix (Chris McIntire) about the suicide telegram he sent his wife. 3) Oscar (Stan Williams), and Felix (Chris McIntire) prepare for their date later that night with the Pidgeon sisters. 4) Roy (J. Means), Speed (Philip Olson), and Murray (Randy Duncan) console Felix (Chris McIntire) after his attempted suicide.

POTION SUCCESS

Tears, laughter, emotions, meeting new friends, and learning new things — that's what happened as the A.C. Players got the play "The Silver Whistle" into full swing.

This is a comedy production of a group of old people waiting to die, who get a chance for a new beginning when a con man convinces them that they're young again, with the help of the magical potion of Twingsti.

1) Con man Oliver Erwenter (Stan Williams), offers some of the magical potion of Twingsti to Mr. Beebe (Andy Givens), and Mr. Cherry (Kevin Streeter). 2) Charley Applegate (The Bishop), Scott Carter (Mr. Redey), Kenny Mitchell (The policeman), and Jeff Nicely (Mr. Beach) practice at rehearsal. 3) Reverend Watson (Kevin Bennett) is extremely upset when he finds Mrs. Hoadly (Shelia Vanderpool) drunk in the church yard, and starts to yell at Miss Tripp (Cindy Stamps). 4) The Old people gather for supper the first night of Mr. Erwenter's stay at their home. They are, Oliver Erwenter (Stan Williams), Mrs. Grose (Janie VanSchuyver), Mr. Cherry (Kevin Streeter), Mrs. Sampler (Carla Postelwaite), Mr. Beebe (Andy Givens), Miss Tripp (Cindy Stamps), Mrs. Hoadly (Shelia Vanderpool), Mrs. Hammer (Marsha Hull), and Reverend Watson (Kevin Bennett).

EDUCATIONAL AIM

Future Teachers of America broke tradition this year to install their officers in a fun and informal ceremony. It took place at Camp Horizon, with Al Sehsuraroylu as a guest speaker on the school system in Turkey.

Other activities undertaken this year included "Turn-About" day, and a Christmas party at Pershing elementary school for special education children.

PROGRAMS SPICE CLUB

Future Homemakers of America have been very active this year.

Each month starts off with a meeting and a bake sale for whatever holiday comes in that month.

Thanksgiving banquets and Christmas parties are fun too. The teachers' lounge was decorated and furnished with goodies three days before Christmas.

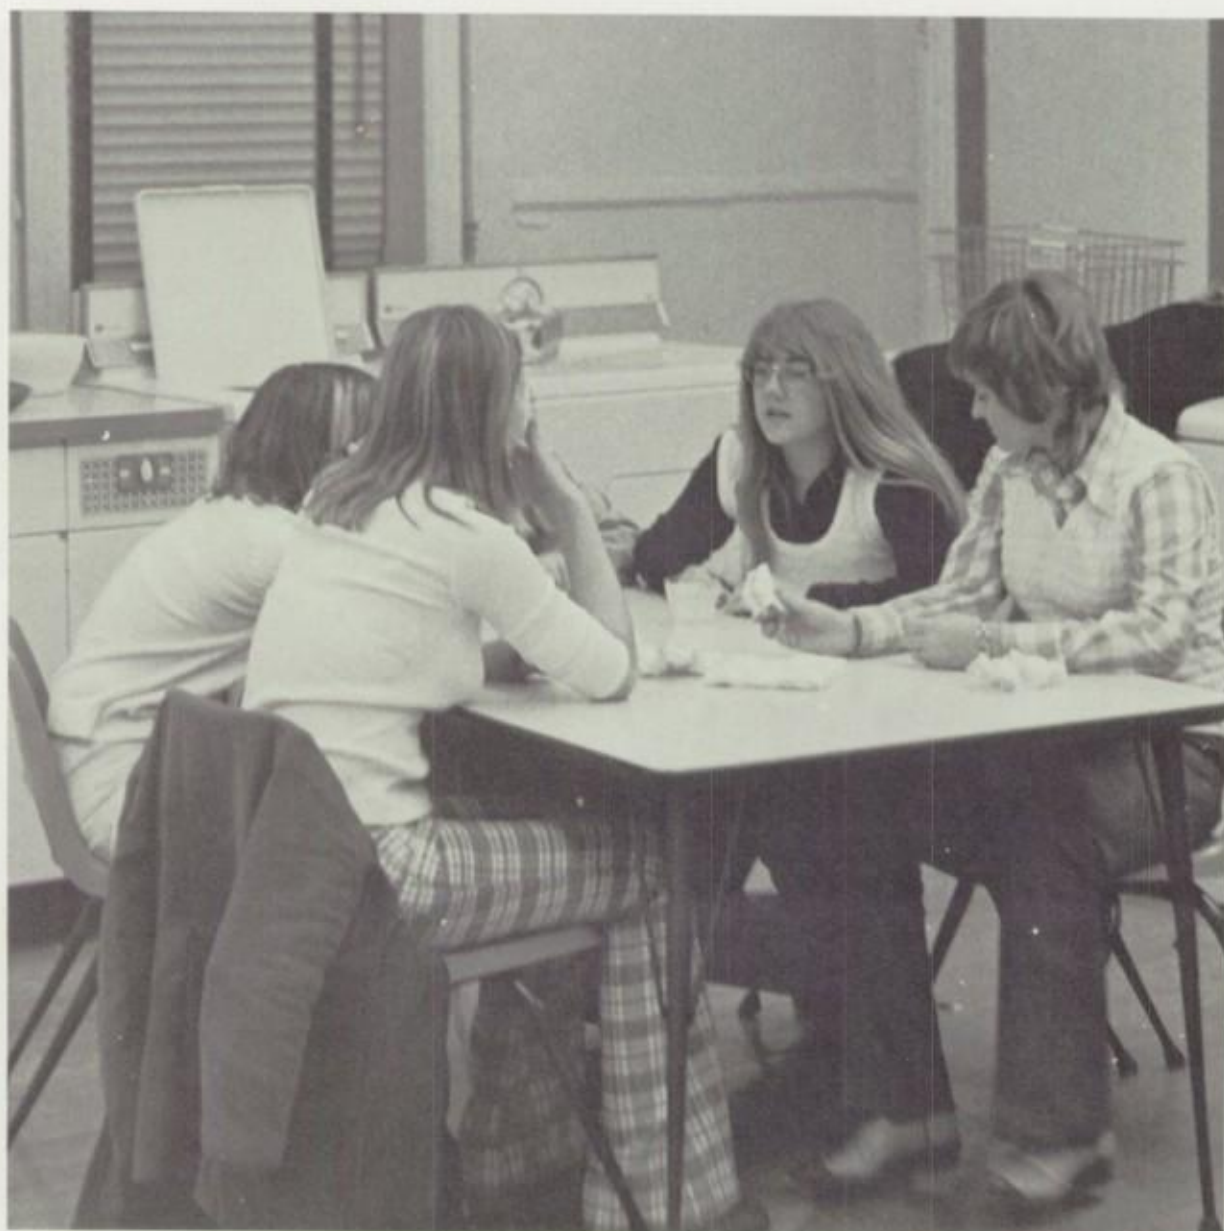

Two posters were entered in the District Contest and took first place.

Guest speakers were welcomed to the meetings. In the spring a cosmologist came to speak on make-up.

SINGING SKILL SHOWN

Choir opened this year with many activities planned and executed, making for a profitable year of learning and experience through entertaining.

One of the planned activities that everyone enjoyed was the concerts. During their Christmas concert the choir sang many old favorites such as The Sleigh and On This Day. During the spring, the choir gave their Pops Concert, singing new songs for their audiences and varying the performance.

1) Symphonic Choir, 1975; Front Row, Left To Right: David Hunt, Laura Akers, Shirley Avery, Steve Smith, Maria Allard, Bea Grakestraw, Robert Milner, Pam Krout, Karen Hutton, Billy Walker, Charolotte Metcalf, Randy Juden, Brenda Brinkman, Janie VanSchuyver, Jeff Nicely, Terri Weston, Bonita Robbins. VOICES CARRIED FAR

Hard work and sack lunches finally paid off for the Arkhighs, when they found that their unique talent had bought them a ticket to Europe. The group, consisting of 16 members, along with last year's Ark high members found themselves washing cars, delivering pies, and selling ads in order to meet the costs of the trip.

The hectic life soon resumed after returning home. They performed at churches, civic clubs, and accented choir concerts throughout the year.

QUILL AND SCROLL.

Quill and Scroll, the honorary journalism society faces a rather difficult problem this year, it must up date the Rogues Gallery 3 years. Heading up this monumental job will be the Rogues Gallery Committee of Quill and Scroll.

Throughout the year, Quill and Scroll had money raising projects to furnish the annual Quill and Scroll banquet, where the staffers for next year's yearbook and Newspaper are appointed. Also, awards are given to those whose help made the publications possible.

To be a member of this society, you must be a member of the staff of either the Yearbook or Newspaper, and in the upper 1/3 of their respective classes.

CLAUDIA SEEKS AMERICANISM

Speaking very little English, Claudia Tavures de Campos arrived at the Lane's doorstep in late August from Brazilia, Brazil. Claudia's father is employed at the bank where he has an interesting occupation of dealing with foreign agents.

Along with the help of her American sister, Ellen, Claudia was active in many clubs and extra-curricular activities.

Outside of homework and school activities, Claudia enjoys many hobbies and sports, a few of these being bicycling and pool. The year was agreed to be an exciting experience for Claudia; full of long-lasting memories and friendships that resulted as the year progressed.

PLEASURE GROWS WITH TIME

Athletics and working on his house are just a few of Principal Gary Kirtley's favorite hobbies. Being administrator of the school leaves him a big gap to fill. Mr. Kirtley agrees that the student body has maintained a good personality "as far as personalities go."

Mr. Kirtley is all for improvement of girl's athletics. He feels that if it includes competition with boys it is also alright.

Each year the students get more scholastic minded, and the enjoyment of Mr. Kirtley's job "increases with the years."

1) Principal Kirtley discusses classroom procedures and behaviors with coach, math teacher J.C. Louderback, and counselor Richard Hawkins. 2) Principal Gary Kirtley discusses an important school issue as only a part of a busy day's work. 3) Secretary Effie Condit helps Mr. Kirtley organize and revise some reports. 4) Important announcements and reminders are aired daily by Principal Kirtley over the school's intercom system.

SKILLS VARIED OUTSIDE WORK

A man who plays many important parts in the administrative and teaching aspects of ACHS is Mr. Gary Akers, assistant principal. Besides his main occupation as assistant principal, Mr. Akers is also a Social Science teacher. The importance of the dual role is felt as it gives him a better perspective of the students.

Amid hard work and busy schedules, Mr. Akers enjoys many sports and hobbies. Photography and pottery wheel art are two of his favorite hobbies, and even after a hectic busy day, time is still created and spent enjoying these arts.

1) Mr. Gary Akers begins another busy day as assistant principal by completing forms to be turned into the superintendent's office. 2) Mrs. Kirtley, librarian, and Mr. Akers enjoy a light-hearted discussion during the in-between classes break. 3) Mr. Akers still finds time to enjoy such relaxing and fun hobbies as pottery wheel art. 4) Secretary Sue Woodworth helps Mr. Akers look over the absence forms for the day.

COUNSELORS LEND HELPING HAND

(1) The Counseling staff of A.C.H.S., Mr. Richard Hawkins and Mrs. Florence Stephens, discuss the different phases of guidance that are offered to each student. (2) Pausing from a busy day's work, Mrs. Florence Stephens beams joyfully after she says, "It's nice to know you have a friend." (3) Mr. Richard Hawkins goes over the opportunities available in Vocational Preferences to junior Kevin Harper while Kevin admires the different fields in which he can go into in his future career as a vocational engineer planning superintendent.

Enrollment, testing and helping students are just a few of the services supplied by the Guidance Department, headed by Mrs. Florence Stephens and Mr. Richard Hawkins.

The main aim of the Guidance Department is to give aid to students who need it. The counselors help in every way possible to help you understand school policies, graduation requirements, and choosing a college of your choice. Mrs. Stephens is sponsor of a group of girls called I-CARE. Mr. Hawkins is sponsor of a group of boys called HI-Y. So you see counseling is not all they do. They have your best interest at heart.

I CARE PROVIDES UNDERSTANDING

A different approach in the Guidance Department is called I Care. It consists of all sophomore girls that took gym, with junior and senior girls as leaders. The groups objective is to acquaint the sophomores with the school and its policies, its traditions and teachers. Each group meets once a month to talk over the problems that have arisen after the last meeting. Mrs. Stephens sits in on some of the meetings just to make sure all is going smoothly.

The leaders have meetings too. They meet once monthly to come up with new ideas for future meetings. With the guidance of the counselors and the encouragement from the student body the results have been outstanding.

(1) Kim Booher's I Care group clockwise Kim Booher, Monica Sherwood, Pena Lea McClaskey, Anite Bryant, Margaret Blair, Sue Lower, Natalie Wilson, Nada Johnson. PACE SPARKS INTEREST

Most students will agree that learning verbs, nouns, adjectives, and their phrases is an important factor in the English program; but who said it couldn't be fun as well as educational? The introduction of the PACE courses brought about a new beginning from this concept, and the English program is more unique and exciting than it has ever been. Many new courses were added, as well as the already scheduled courses. The class "Introduction to Mass Media" is an example of an experimental course which provided favorable results. Along with the new courses, three new staff members were also welcomed by the English staff. With a skilled staff, experience and knowledge are present in the classroom.

NEW METHODS WIDEN STUDY

Although no major changes were made this year, discussion of Social Science mini-courses for coming years was debated over by faculty and school board.

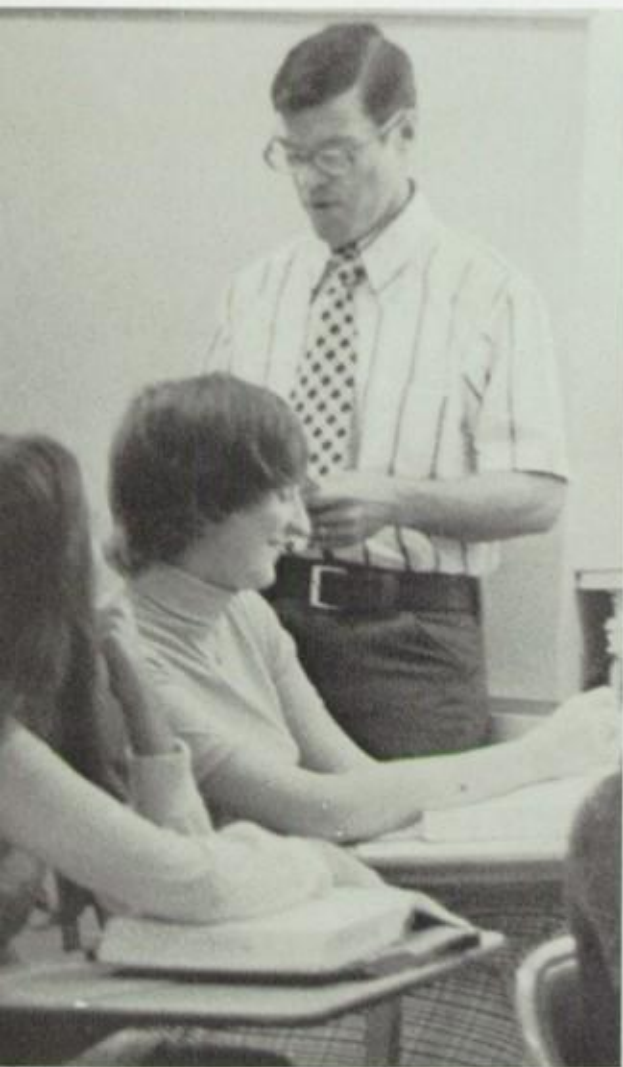

Many teachers found the best way to keep the students attentive during classtime was to combine and compare these 'outdated' books to current events. Mr. Eggen's constitution class was kept busy first semester with collecting election items from newspapers while Mr. Gilstrap's economics class kept up with the stock market in addition to textbook study. Mr. Ewing's psychology and sociology classes "took a break" from regular classroom procedures to listen to guest speakers.

Although both students and teachers are anticipating a change in classes next year, they found that these added activities can make classes more enjoyable.

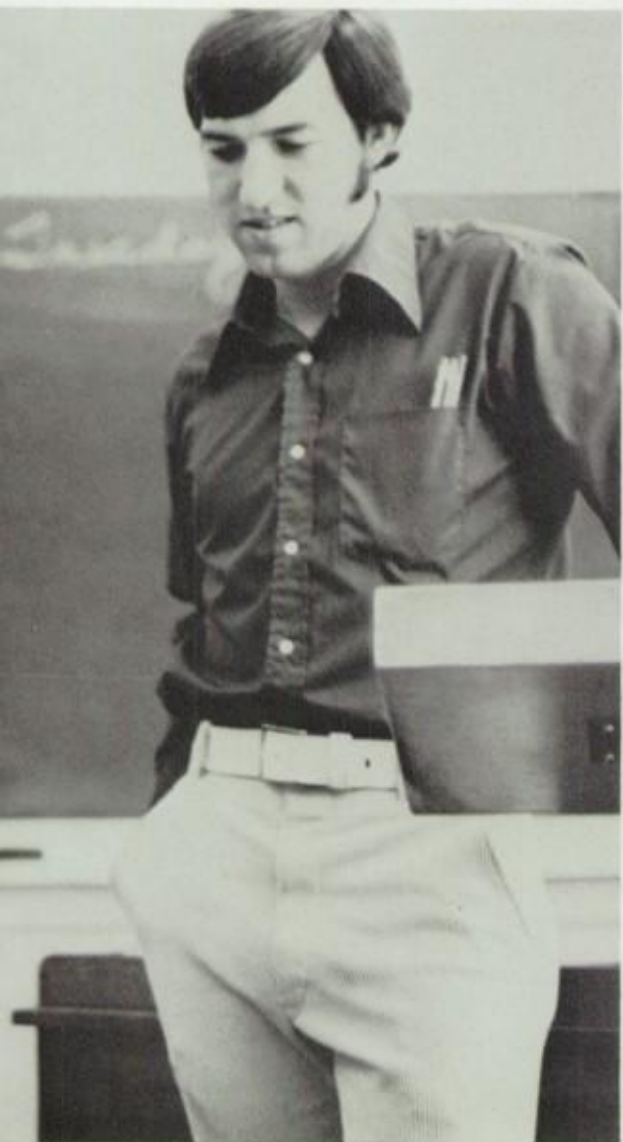

1) Mr. Miller watches thoughtfully while students work on a test. 2) Mr. Eggen discusses assignments while Susie Bucher follows with her book. 3) Mr. Hollingsworth finds the map most helpful in teaching his sophomore World History class. 4) Role playing is an important part of Psychology as Mr. Ewing and Suzy Remsburg find as they demonstrate.

PREP MATH ASSISTS LEARNING

1) Mr. Steve Moore, Geometry and Algebra II teacher, explains the properties of operations to his students. 2) Busily at work, Mr. Moore's 1st hour Geometry students figure and struggle on their daily assignment. 3) Mr. J. C. Louderback, Algebra and Advanced Math teacher, illustrates the usage of the Pythagorean theorem to his Algebra I students.

Gripe. Gripe. Gripe. "Who needs math anyway?" "How's the Pythagorean theorem ever gonna help us figure out the discount price of a pizza and a 7-Up."

Math students found themselves "caught up" in another year of equations, theorems, and thought problems. Under the patient and excellent teaching of Mr. J. C. Louderback and Mr. Steve Moore, math classes have been improved and revised to better prepare students for college entrance exams and prep courses. By the new advanced math program, junior mathematicians are now allowed to enroll in the traditionally titled "Senior Math", which enables them to go on to college level math courses.

COURSES MODERNIZE SCIENCE

The science student of today is not confined to such classroom activities as dissecting frogs or balancing out chemical formulas. Pollution, conservation, and increasing populations of endangered species are only a few of the problems that face today's scientists, and scientists in the next generation to come. Sensible solutions can only be found through a direct and serious study of the many different fields of Chemistry, Physics, and the biological sciences.

To broaden the field of study, nine weeks mini-courses have been introduced into the Chemistry II and Physics branches of the science program. A student can now pick from an array of courses, ranging from a study of radioactivity and its effects, to the laws of motions and forces.

1) With the help of her lab partners, Gi Gi Guinn and Cindy Powders, Marie Swanson performs a disectomy on a pig for an experiment in Mr. Steinmetz's Biology II class. 2) Jeff Nicely, a student in Mr. Grienke's 1st year Chemistry class, organizes his data and figures the solubilities of certain substances for the lab experiment. 3) Brad Louderback grinds his compounds for the experiment on "properties of matter" in his 5th hour Chemistry I class.

NEW DEVICES EXPAND PROGRAM

New equipment in the Industrial-Vocational Art courses made these classes more interesting and beneficial to the students.

New electronic equipment in Mr. Partin's Auto Mechanics course enabled students to work faster and more accurately in repairing "sick cars".

Mr. Long's Woodworking I classes received new hand tools and other devices to perfect their skills. Students who took Mr. Martin's Woodworking II began working more with sheetmetal as a result of the arrival of new equipment.

Printing class found themselves "all tied up" in the printing of the school newspaper and posters for activities such as Pep Club and the football team.

Long walks in winter didn't keep the ambitious agricultural students from having a busy schedule all year. "Ag" students realized that the agriculture classes get away from the regular "ho-hum" classroom procedures. The crops class planted wheat test plots west of town to prepare themselves for the farming life many may lead later on. To raise money, and for the enjoyment of the horticulture class, poinsettias and geraniums were raised and sold at Christmastime.

BUSINESS PREPARES STUDENTS

Sitting in on court in Winfield, Kansas and staging a mock trial twice each year is just a few of the activities that Business Law students experience.

General Business is kept busy by listening to guest speakers which consist of insurance agents, credit agents and law enforcement officers. Business class also takes one field trip to the Data Processing Center with the students from Cowley County Community College.

Production typing classes are having on the job training programs with students actually experiencing the responsibilities of an office job.

1) Terri Sharp, Joyce Ramsey, Janet McCorgary and Julie Golay prepare for another assignment in Mrs. Stewart's office machines class. 2) Avis Allen concentrates on her bookkeeping problems during Mrs. Stewart's bookkeeping class. 3) Miss Stuteville reviews her Typing I class on their practice drills.

FINE ARTS COURSES BROADENED

Football games, parades, the state contest and the Kansas State Fair were a few out of many attractions which the Bulldog marching band contributed hours of time and practices for the marching performances. Directed by Mr. Wayne Hamilton and Mr. Ray Gilstrap, the band learned many fundamentals of performing, in spite of having fun.

Civic activities and school activities kept the choirs and the orchestra busy throughout the school year. Between concerts, and operetta, memorable experiences were created within the casts, crews, and members of the groups. Headed by Mr. Charles Coker, the art department put to use their creative imaginations and talents in many new art projects. Pen, pencil, charcoal and ink sketches made up the curriculum of the Art I students. The students in the second year art classes broadened their skills with projects such as silver jewelry molding, and creating their own pottery.

1) Making spoon rings and bracelets are just a few of the skills that Keith Robinson mastered in Art II. 2) Mr. Hamilton, band director, looks over new music before early morning rehearsal.

ACTIVITIES EXPAND LANGUAGES

The most outstanding event of the year was International Day. It consisted of members from AFS, Spanish Club, Wellington and Winfield, Kansas. Entertainment and enjoyment were two of the basic aims that this wonderful day represented.

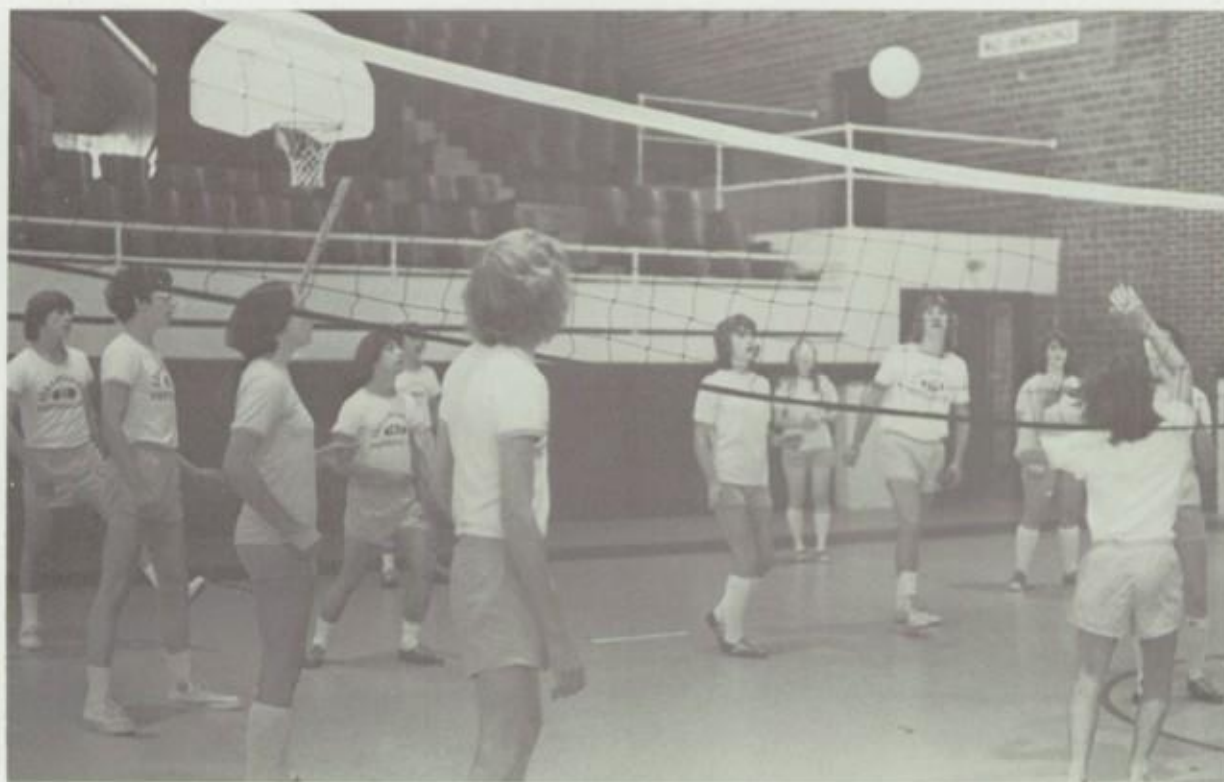

WSU had the pleasure of the Spanish students for Concurso. Also in the spring, Spanish clubs from all over Kansas met as WSU.

At Christmas, the Spanish students put on Possadas. This was when Mary and Joseph went from place to place looking for lodging.

1) French is a flowing language. Denise Berry and Miss Debra Daily go over the lessons thoroughly before the test. 2) Pronunciation is the key as Miss Lesley Long, Spanish teacher, demonstrates. 3) Miss Long smiles while she goes over Spanish homework with her students. 4) Halloween preparations are displayed on the Spanish bulletin board.

SEXES INTEGRATE IN P.E. COURSES

Co-ed P.E. classes came into being as a result of federal government rulings. Next school year co-ed P.E. will be nation-wide. According to regulations, facilities must be equal for both boys and girls.

When students enroll in physical education classes their sex cannot be a factor. No longer may activities be segregated into girls' teams and/or groups, boys' teams or groups. They must be co-educational.

1) Everett Chastain leaps for the high basket in showing his precision in the sport. 2) Coed P.E. goes over big in ACHS without any arguments from parents. 3) Exercise with the ball is one of the many activities stressed in P.E. 4) Concentrating on volleyball, the girl's P.E. increase their coordination through speed.

HOME ECONOMICS FOR EVERYONE

Foods and clothing are not the only Home Economic courses taught in A.C.H.S. Under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Nittler, Human Relations, Consumers Education, Future of the American Family, and Child Care and Development are taught. HERO (Home Economics Related Occupation) Foods, Clothing, Personal Culture and Housing are taught by Mrs. Donna Coburn. These courses are offered to boys also; this year two boys were enrolled in Child Care and Development.

Speakers, films, and trips highlighted this year's Home Economics classes. Frying chicken for Consumers Education and going to Merle Norman in Personal Culture were two of the practical learning experiences of the class.

(1) Newly Wed, Mrs. Donna Coburn, home economics instructor spends each day preparing and discovering new recipes for her classes and at home. (2) Baking is one of the many skills learned in HERO (home economics related occupation) FOODS as shown here by Penny Miller while removing some homemade bread from the oven. (3) Child Care and Development, Consumer Education, Human Relations, and Future of the Contemporary American Family are the classes taught under the Home Economics instructor Mrs. Beverly Nittler, shown here while she discusses the basic information supplied by the Home Economics Department.

SKILLS ARE KEYS TO SUCCESS

Practice and skill are the keys to success in Debate and Forensics. Being able to speak clearly, getting your point across, and convincing people of what you are saying are rehearsed until mastered. Contests and putting on skits for the school keep the students busy. Mrs. Judy Walker maintains the classes by giving them the encouragement, the guidance, and understanding needed to produce the type of debate team we have. Patience along with determination keep each student wanting to reach their highest potential.

Along with the serious approach, the students also enjoy this class and all they learn to do in it.

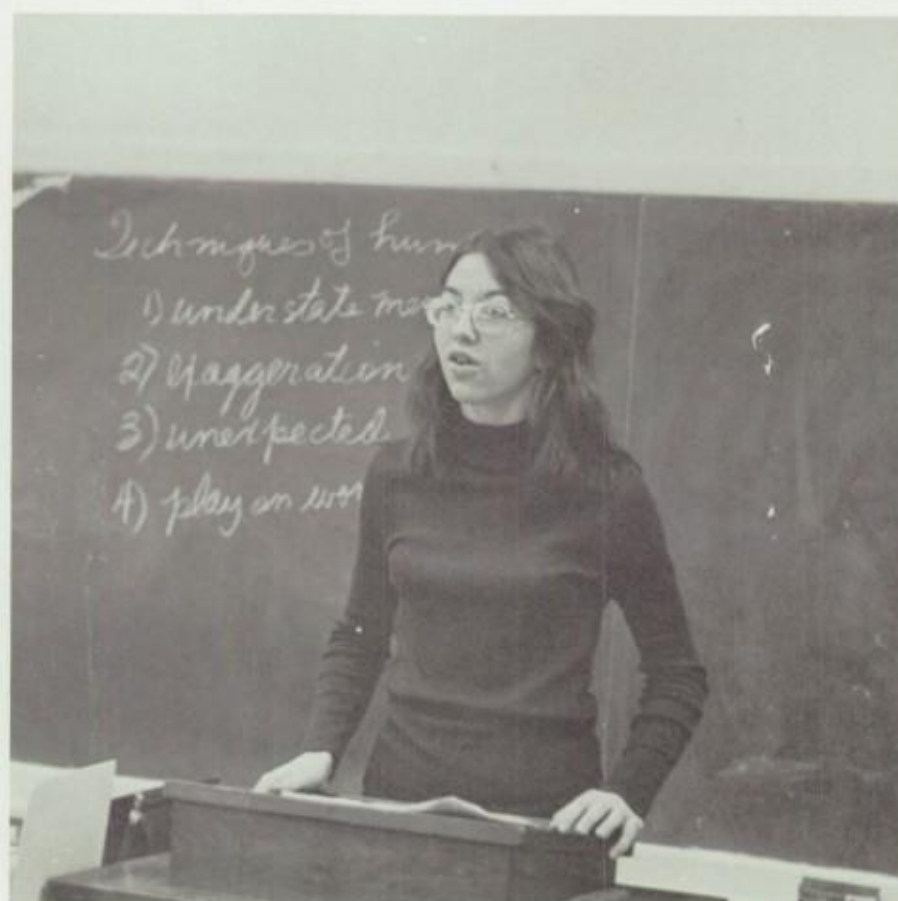

(1) Senior, Stan Williams, demonstrates his great skill in acting by performing a skit from a new play that might be used as the spring play. (2) Pausing from a dedicated rehearsal and approving with the teacher's corrections, senior Monica Myers, waits before going to the next script in Forensics. (3) Techniques of humorous debate are challenging as well as fun. Matching wits with other debators and getting your point across is one of the many skills sophomore Jayne Alexander has mastered.

LEARNING CENTERS AID PUPILS

A library is the basic part of every school and Mrs. Lori Kirtley helps create an atmosphere that every library should have.

Recent magazines, newspapers, books, and filmstrips can always be found when needed. Mrs. Atkins can help if Mrs. Kirtley isn't around. Together they maintain an excellent library.

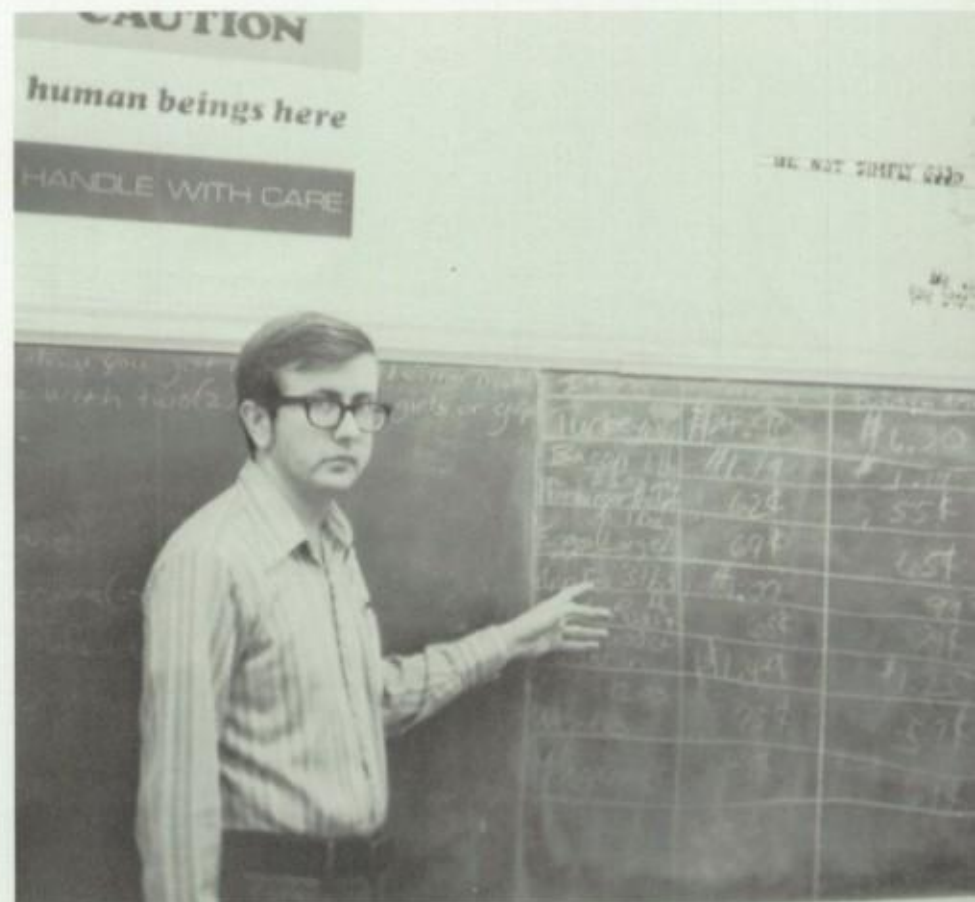

Filling out applications and taking interviews are a few of the job preparations taught to students in the Learning Center. Learning the value of money, handling money, purchasing insurance, writing checks and managing a bank book is the goal sought after.

(1) Pictured here from left to right are those energetic library helpers (bottom row), Claudia de Compos, Annette More, Bonita Robbins, Debra Aubert, Janet Hadicke, Barbara Rakestraw, Karol Dowell, Brenda Brinkman, (top row), Renee Mulkey, Cindy Poling, Stan Williams, Dan McGowan, Steve Young, Melody Hull, Tammy McKinney. (2) Shown here is Mrs. Lori Kirtley, the ACHS Librarian as she shows the display she made to put a little life in the library. (3) Mrs. Atkins is filing some books which were checked out by the students. (4) Mr. Larry White is shown here as he demonstrates some tips for consumer education.

PERSONNEL PROMOTE SERVICE

Shining floors and clean blackboards show the dependability and efficiency of the custodians. They don't only maintain the cleanliness of the school but they also help the students with small but important tasks.

Picking up attendance slips, typing, and recording names of absentees keeps the office help busy each hour. Ms. Effie Condit and Mrs. Sue Woodworth are the office secretaries. Ms. Condit maintains Mr. Kirtley's office by putting the daily bulletin, typing, filing, and giving each person a friendly smile each time they enter. Answering the phone, giving tardy permits, and absent slips takes up most of Mrs. Woodworth's time in Mr. Aker's office.

BOARD SEEKS NEW APPROACH

Reviewing the local district policies to comply with federal, state, and local regulations has kept the Board of Education busy.

Some of the major areas of concern that are new or require a new approach this year are: Written Staff Evaluation Procedures, Title IX Non-Discrimination Act, the student Record and Family Privacy Act, Due Process Law, Mandated special education expansion, T.A.P.S. Program, and of course the North Central Evaluation of the High School.

Important areas in which the Board must concern itself are school finance, curriculum, facilities, personnel and staffing, negotiations, Federal programs, the transportation system, lunch services, the problems caused by continued inflation, laws, rules and regulations governing the operation of the school.

(1) Reading the daily newspaper is one of Mr. Gene Snyder's everyday duties. (2) Mr. Lloyd Shanks maintains a point while discussing IX. (3) Making a speedy recovery after a long illness, Mr. Herbert Stone studies a jig saw puzzle. (4) Taking care of his farm keeps Mr. Bob Marrs busy. (5) Mrs. Zora Weir expresses herself through sewing. (6) Relaxing on the sofa is Mr. Joe Gastons hobby. (7) Mr. Edgar Hinshaw enjoys reading. (8) Reading the Arklight takes up Mr. Russell Leachs time. (9) Mrs. Marilyn Childers loves to embroidery. (10) Dr. Douglass McCall goes over plans. (11) A hobby of Mr. Dave Daulton is barbecuing at his home in his spare time for his family and friends.

SOPHOMORES—THE CLASS OF 77

We are the rookies, those who occupy the basement of this building. We came, not quite knowing what to expect but soon adapted to the circle of school activities, schedules, breaks, finals, and all the activities.

As we think back over the year, we meet many memories of both joy and sadness. We are now looking forward to next year but come across the question — Can our junior year be better?

JUNIORS — THE CLASS OF 76

Our Sophomore year was simpler but there is a challenge this year that makes it worthwhile. The challenge is of change and an upward move to bigger and better things. The teachers and homework are still there. What has changed is us. The fun of last year is only a remembrance now, but we will continue to live, learn, and mature.

SENIORS — THE CLASS OF 75

Seniors we are! This is our last year but it is still a hectic one. Not only do examinations, forms, and applications need to be filled out, but some of our toughest decisions must be made. Memories of our sophomore and junior years will remain with us all our life but the memories of our Senior year will stand out the most.

After the great class of 75 graduates, we will be on our own in another world of different challenges, but we will always remember our Senior year with much pride.

PROM 'IN THE PARK'

The Junior — Senior Prom was the last dance for the year. With the theme of Saturday in the Park the Juniors and Seniors danced to the sounds of Echo Cliff.

It was a very successful dance and was enjoyed by all, even the teachers who chaperoned the dance had a good time.

The auditorium was decorated with trees, fountains, flowers, and the stage was decorated with various colored lights. The tables were decorated with flowers and candles. The refreshments were served by sophomores.

A change in this year's Stuco elections proved Kent Miller best for next years president. The three candidates this year were Wendy Viola, Steve Hinshaw, and Kent Miller. These candidates had to work harder this year because of the new election process presented by Stan Williams, and adopted by the school board.

Our "75" boys tennis team got off to a good start this year, under the guidance of Coach J. C. Louderback, and Coach Jerry Hollis.

Under senior leaders Brad Louderback, David Reese, and Alan Snyder the team served through a winning season.

Senior Alan Snyder gets his kicks at the beginning of a practice before he settles down to a hard work-out. 2) David Reese sweeps a backhand shot as he fights for another Bulldog win. 3) Brad Louderback and David Reese begin a normal practice session by working on their serving.

14 GO TO STATE

Girl's and boy's track accomplished many things this year under the leadership of Norma Dixon, girl's track coach, and Bill Means, Boy's track coach. The track team got off to a very slow start this year because of bad weather, other than that they had a very good season

A few of the seniors leading the track teams this year were Lois Stone, Karen Kelling, Brenda Brinkman, J. Means, and David Hunt. Lois threw the shot put, Karen competed in the long jump, Brenda and J. ran the mile, while David Hunt competed in the two mile. These are only a few of the events they participated in.

Candy Freeman, a junior trackster, went to the Ponca City meet, April 18, and broke the Oklahoma Low Hurdle Record.

TEAM BATS INTO WINS

A couple of new changes were added to the 1975 baseball team, and they happened to be females. Senior Cindy Kinzie and Junior Jennifer Doty showed the team of guys that determination, guts and experience was all that was needed to compete in baseball.

The coaching of Jan Nittler and John Woodworth combined the talents of both sexes to help the team to their victories of the "75" season.

ANDERS IN FIRST YEAR

Working with the Mirror and Arklight staffs in his first year as ACHS publications advisor, Mr. David Anders did his part for the production of the Mirror and the many editions of the Arklight. He was always standing by to help someone with copy, pictures, or layouts.

He moved here from Hoi-sington, Kansas with his wife and three small sons.

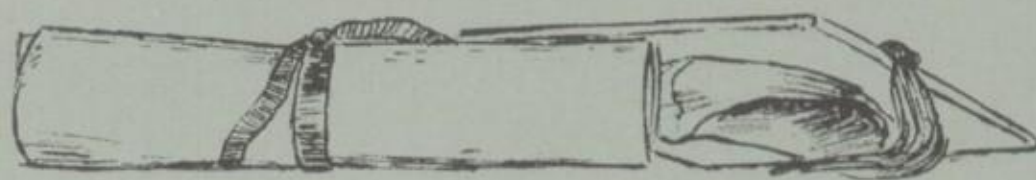

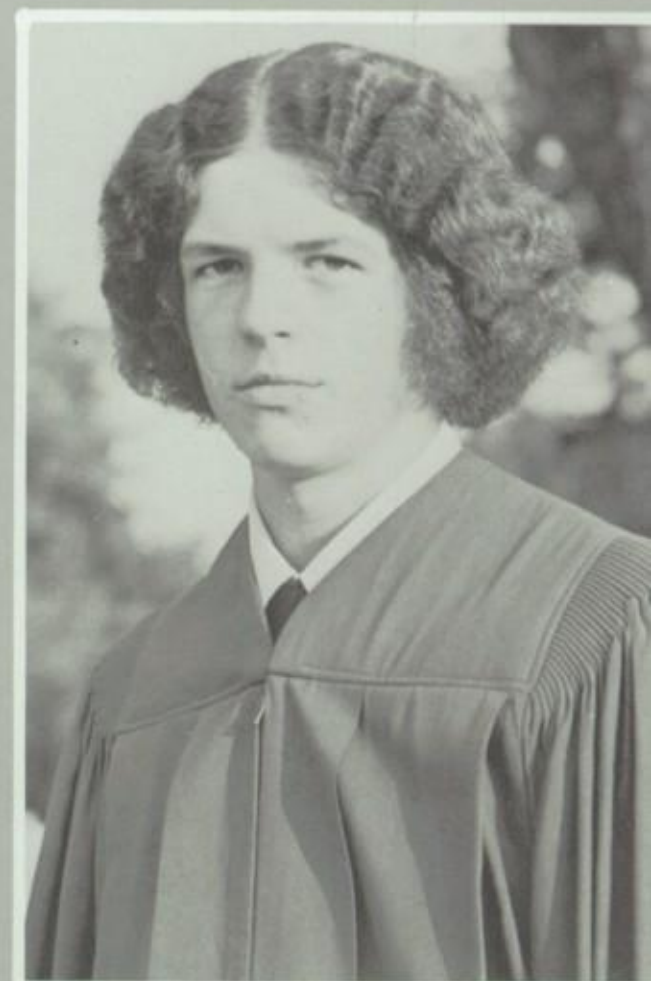

The Mirror and Arklight staffs have greatly benefitted from his assistance and guidance.

1) ARKLIGHT Jr. Staffers — Sitting: Chris McIntire, Karen Chastain, Sarah Horton. Row 2: Lee Lanham, Barry Reed, Cindy Poling, Ruth Manley, Jan Thompson, Scott Carter, Linda Houk. ACTIVITIES

To the Harbor of Success >>>
by the Light of Knowledge.

Seventy years old this Spring! In 1905 the Mirror was born. Changes have come about in both student life styles and in yearbook styles since then but for these seventy years the Mirror has served as a means of expression — showing student life as it is in ACHS.

When Robert Johnson suggested the first ACHS yearbook be named the Mirror, little did he realize then in 1905 the changes that would take place in the Mirror. Mr. Johnson, now ninety and living in Ark City, has followed the progress of the book over the years as it began as a small paperbound volume with black and white pictures and then as the book's staffs added hardback covers and now in recent years as staffs have added full color covers, colored paper, and four-process color pictures.

Early yearbooks included poetry and essays expressing student ideas and values. Now, most expression is through pictures, especially candid.

Through the years innovations have changed the style and appearance of the Mirror. Why? Expression! Self-expression!

We believe that the 1974-75 Mirror continues for you the tradition of expression. Look through the book again. Laugh. Cry. Think. See how you expressed yourself!

Our thanks go to the following for their assistance in publishing this year's Mirror: the administration, faculty, and staff of the high school, Frank Wright and American Yearbook Company, you the students who worked and cooperated with us, and the School Board along with the central administration.

Mary Beeks and Renee Mulkey, Co-editors
